

Of all the needs discussed which one would

Environment	Seating I think having a dedicated area which has sofas or armchairs and lower tables. I think that's the biggest difference you would see a lot more people possibly staying and want to chat sometimes and if you've got a dedicated area then you kind of feel comfortable. Sofas I want sofas. No primarily from me the two big things are the seating area make it friendly relaxed chairs Comfort I don't think the price of the products justified by the environment at all. So people are going to sit in the chairs regardless of what they're like. At the moment there horrible but if you didn't change the chairs then is going to be worse. I don't necessarily agree with you there though Dan because I see less people in the chairs, spongy comfy chairs in them. yeah they should make the JCR more about chilling out than doing work because it's about comfort then as we said or i'd say generally experience as opposed to just a drink. And as you say well decorated area with appropriate ambient lighting and comfortable furniture around. deco we should make it a place where you would want to go in between lectures to do some work and if they improve the decor then the atmosphere it would feel more like a coffee shop yes it make it so people would sit and chat there for longer and people would stay longer.
Coffee & drinks	as someone who doesn't use it I'd say the quality of the coffee because everyone likes coffee or me it's the coffee and drinks it needs to be a different brand because this company is crap as George said the coffee is crap. I probably say the coffee because at the end of the day people are always going to drink coffee.
Food	because obviously I don't drink coffee that much yes it would be nice to have a cafe or a shop a 50-50 split of the coffeeshop so you actually feel it's a coffee shop as opposed to a cafe. A manned counter as opposed to a till.
Service	They give you the drink that you asked for, or the food to a certain extent. maybe friendly staff so like in Starbucks you go in and they know your name. yes because it's only one person didn't have time to talk, he is just rushing everyone. So I think it's probably better then for me if they had two people would probably be better. theres just like one till in shops it's not like that, you give them your order and they give you the drink. I think the idea of the loyalty scheme is good and again he said that you buy at a certain amount and you get a discount.
Price	I would say that prices the most important thing from me. For example elsewhere it's there and close I feel as if I have to buy it, if I wanted then I have to buy it for a long time. looking at quite a short term view I'd say price. I don't really sit around in coffee shop as much compared to what I used to, if I had a coffee shop I'd sit around. So looking at it somewhat selfishly I'd say the price I wanted a bit cheaper. you identified as being the most important?

tables so it is seen as a this relaxing area and not a study area.

aying and people would really love having that area because I mean people do want to just that you're allowed to.

laxing cut it off from "this is uni"

o care that much.

the JCR now, they actually go to the labs to hang out more just because there's actual

e there are plenty of workspaces.

rk and food they serve, it's the experience that you get when you going there.

y seats, access to the Internet, power points and tables for you to relax or do some work lo a bit of work or to have a chat with some friends and have a snack and relax.

free shop

pend more time in there.

ie complains about it

y should get costa's or Starbucks in.

to go down there even if they sit in the labs or what ever.

greater range of products to just Cornershop.

/thing.

y have more time on my hands

ou don't have to worry about it.

every single day so it's good for you.

re I could get a bottle of Lucozade for about 85p wears in here I pay £1.20 for it. Just because r that price.

am in there now I'm normally getting a drink and heading off to a lab or to a lecture.
